Description

There's no such thing as a secret in Stewiacke. Vi, Rita, Mary Ellen, and Janine are all as close as can be—they are comfortable and coasting.

But when Sean, a heartbroken doctor, moves in to take a temporary job, and decides to pursue Janine he tips the Maritime town that's famous for being halfway between the North Pole and the equator off its axis.

This only brings Janine closer together with her friends, who each have their own messy love lives. Can everyone find what they're looking for in Stewiacke?
